Negroes Kill Officer

AT LEBANON AND MOB COMES NEAR GETTING THEM.

Lebanon, Ky., May 8.—Policeman John A. Robey was killed by James Buckner and Jesse Smith, negroes, early Sunday when he was taking them to the workhouse. A mob sought to lynch him, but police Chief Yowell and Sheriff Burham, rushed the prisoner to Louisville.

Buckner was caught this evening and lodged in jail. A crowd stormed the prison, and while the Mayor, Coun. D. Attorney, and prominent citizens appealed to the mob to let the law take its course, Buckner was slipped out and also rushed to Louisville.

CONGRESSMAN HELM HITS THE BULLS EYE

IN SPEECH ON RECIPROCITY AND FARMERS' FREE LIST IN HOUSE LAST WEEK.

Congressman Helm made a great hit last week with his speech in the House on Reciprocity and Farmers' Free List bill. He paid a fitting tribute to Beck, Carlisle and Breckinridge, and to Watterson, Blackburn and McCreary—"Masters of the old Kentucky Democratic tariff school," and placed the "Star-eyed Goddess of Reform" once more before the footlights. He demonstrated that the tariff did not increase the price of farm products, cited the president, the secretary of Agriculture and other republican authorities as recent converts to the old democratic doctrine that the surplus fixed the price of farm products. He described the new republican doctrine of a tariff to cover cost of production and fair profit as the same old dose of protection for infant industries with a sugar coating. He said that the position of those high priests of protection, Cannon, Mann and Dalzell, was as much a danger signal to him as the red light on the railroad track was to the engineer.

He produced first hand evidence to show that the freight rates from Canadian points to Central Kentucky points were an insurmountable protection to Kentucky, and showed that the balance of trade on farm products with Canada was overwhelmingly in our favor. He told why the beef packers opposed the bill, and sent their agents as walking delegates among the cattle raisers in opposition to the bill. He showed by accurate data that exports of farm products are so far in excess of imports that the tariff could not affect the price making the broad statement that, with rare exceptions, the surplus of such products controlled the price, and that freight rates from Canadian points was an insurance to Kentucky farmers against lower prices insofar as concerns Canadian competition. That the cost of labor in Canada and here are practically the same, that at Winnipeg the market price of wheat was higher than at Chicago.

Discussing The Farmers' Free List bill, he demonstrated how manufacturers could apply the tariff as a profit with mathematical accuracy, and act in concert with military discipline to control the price and output; while the farmer helpless to organize to control either output, quality or price of his products, was completely at the mercy of the manipulations of the board of trade over the enactment of the farmer's free list bill would make possible a total annual saving of $79,000,000, to the farmer on a bill of the principal items made free of duty by the bill, and said that in his opinion, the data, if it could be obtained would show that the enactment of the bill would make a total annual saving to the consumer of one hundred million dollars.

McCreary Takes Forward Position On Live Issues of the Day in Kentucky

MAN WHO WILL BE DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR GOVERNOR CLEARLY OUTLINES PROGRESSIVE PRINCIPLES HE ADVOCATES.

Senator James B. McCreary spoke the roads in each county of Kentucky vigorously in the interest of his candidacy for the democratic nomination for governor at Lexington, Boone county last week. He made known his views on some of the most important questions of the day.

He said he favored the divorce of the state penal institution from politics and an examination and inspection of banking institutions. He also declared for the election of the United States Senators by direct vote of the people. He said in part:

References have been repeatedly made to a convention to adopt a platform and also to certain State questions now being discussed.

In the interest of the harmony and the united democracy I am in favor of a State convention of democrats to be held after the primary election is held to adopt a platform. The plan of holding a State convention and adopting a platform after the primary election is held has been tried in Georgia, Alabama, Tennessee and other Southern States and gave satisfaction.

"I am in favor of general improvement of our educational system. There should be better schools, better school houses and more of them, and more school children in attendance, and better pay for the teachers, and there should be centrally high schools in every county as authorized by the existing common school law. Education is the foundation of progress and the people are properly and intelligently educated, necessary progress is sure to come.

"There should be such legislation as will provide better roads and bring the constitution of Kentucky.

Another day was coming to a close. Martin Owens, who was in company with the whip-poor-wills in the woods, calling from the swamp, with a merry tinkle of cow bells, combining made a weird melody.

Having met Mr. J. H. Brown in the forenoon, and finding him to be a nice gentleman, we inquired our way to his residence. Our host had not yet returned, but his agreeable wife and daughters made us welcome. Mr. B. soon came and we were soon partaking of a most excellent meal. After supper we were much interested in hearing our host tell how his two fine young sons had been acquitted themselves the past winter. Being a lover of the sport, we will return at the proper season, and enjoy a night's hunting.

In our canvass, the next day, we had the pleasure of meeting Mr. Bradford Warren, who is a promising young physician of the South end.

As we met him every day attend ing patients we know he must enjoy a good practice. Like all residents of this, he ordered the I. J.

We could not pass, unheeded, the kind invitation of Mr. Pes Brown, and mother Mrs. Mary Brown, to stay for dinner. A mighty clever family, Mrs. Brown's husband, the late John T. Brown, was a gallant U. S. cavalry man in the war between the states. Mrs. Brown is a sister of Mrs. W. H. Brown of Lancaster, being a daughter of the late and widely lamented Rev. father in the 12th Kentucky Infantry.

Was at Mill Springs, which was the first action in which he saw service. Upon the ever memorable battle of Shiloh, Missionary Ridge, Stone river and Knoxville spent 8 long, weary months in the prison at Andersonville, Ga. He well knew Mr. John Rafter and is grieved to learn of his death. John and "Poke" were great cronies while at Crab Orchard.

Our next stop was at Quail. Here we met Mr. S. L. Cummins, who is a bustling merchant besides being postmaster at this place. Here we got acquainted with a lot of nice people. Called on Mr. J. A. Brown who is a patient sufferer from tuberculosis. Had a pleasant visit to Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Cummins. Mrs. C. was the daughter of Joe Craig who was of Irish descent, and always ready with a good reply to any person who thought to have fun at his expense. He was driving a small yoke of oxen below Crab Orchard, when two strangers, well dressed and driving, accosted him with the inquiry, "can you tell us how far we are going?" "No sir I can't but if you don't stop until some body wants you too you will go a good ways." The other stranger nudged his companion and said, "you're beat". One time Craig asked a stranger his name, and he answered "Barlow". Best knife I ever used said Craig and walked on.

Met M. F. Craig at the ford of Brush creek and accepted his invitation to go to his house for the night. Here we spent another pleasant evening. Mr. C. is as full of dry humor as his father, the gentleman referred to in the preceding paragraph. While here our every comfort was attended to and we hope to some day make a return trip. Next morning we were shown one of the prettiest coits we ever saw. It was a filly colt sired by Black & Son's Black Joe. The young star was as lively as a cricket and could do as many tricks as a show horse. Forming a track and then going the gaits seemed to come handily. Only a week old but was as large and as active as one twice that age.

At noon we stopped and took dinner with Rev. John Elder and family. We believe this gentleman has the best farm in the Brodhead Magisterial District of Rockcastle. Nice house, good spring, and all kind of hand conveniences. This farm was formerly owned by Mr. George B. Sutton, of near Precheraville.

At the approach of evening we found ourselves near the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Larkin Hicks. Having received an invitation previously, to return and spend a night, we returned thither. Our host gave a delightful musical discourse after supper. He is a past master on the violin, having won the prize in several old fiddlers' contests. He formerly lived at Brodhead. Mrs. Hicks will be pleasantly remembered by her young friends at Stanford as Mrs. J. W. Ramsey. Mrs. Ramsey and husband, running a boarding house there several years ago. "Aunt sis and Uncle Mark" are great favorites with all who have their acquaintances.

Down at Bee Lick we made the acquaintance of J. M. Reynolds, senior member of the firm of J. Reynolds & Son. Mr. R. tells us that he is contemplating selling out his $2,000 stock for goods at this place, renting out, and selling goods somewhere in the blue grass. He is handling an up-to-date line of goods. Mr. R. has a wide circle of friends. His wife will be remembered by her friends at Precheraville as Miss Ida Mullins who was an attractive guest of Mrs. Margaret Cummins, Sr., several times.

J. M. Brown, another one of Bee Lick's foremost merchants, is selling lots of goods. He is located at the old Perkins stand, once occupied by W. S. Perkins now one of Crab Orchard's leading merchants.

The Lyons Lumber Co. has a large saw mill located here, and works a large force of men. All kinds of dimension stuff, is made by them, besides lots of common lumber. This firm is buying all the merchantable timber in this section for which they pay good prices.

Ran across Mr. Jack Mullins who is well known in the East End and at Precheraville.

After some canvassing over in the good county of Pulaski county we called upon Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Reynolds and felt might, good when we were told we could spend the night. A substantial supper was soon ready and we were partaking of an appetizing meal and listening to our host who is one of the most entertaining fellows we have ever had the pleasure of meeting. Our opinions, concerning a variety of subjects, were very much alike. Our friend was badly crippled in the foot, some years ago, by a scaffold falling upon it, then about a year ago he was kicked on a lower limb, by a horse, and had the member broken. His good spirits show him to be a game man, notwithstanding his injuries. Easy and witty in speech, his mirth provoking jokes would make a chronic dyspeptic yell in merriment. He is well acquainted with Supt. Garland Singleton, and inquires after him.

People here put lots of confidence in their fellow men. In all our week's TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING THE BASIS OF SUCCESS.

Since the Ingredients Entering Peruna Are Known, Its Power as a Catarrh Remedy and Tonic is Understood.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—The active ingredients entering the most popular household remedy in the world have been made known to the public. This means a new era in the advertising of popular family medicines—Peruna leads.

Peruna contains among other things, golden seal, powerful in its effect upon the mucous membranes. Cedron seed, a rare medicine and unsurpassed tonic. Cubebs, valuable in nasal catarrh and affections of the kidneys and bladder. Stone root, valuable for the nerves, mucous membranes, as well as in dropsy and indigestion.

journey through the south of Lincoln, and over in Rockcastle and here in Pulaski we have yet to see a lock on a poultry house, granary, corn crib or smoke house.

This is as fine as poor man's country. Most everyone owns a farm fitted up with all of the conveniences. There is a farmers' line of telephones here, phones in nearly every house. Everyone seems contented and happy; there seems to be no deadly rush here for the Almighty Dollar, there is not such a great rush to keep in style. In short, the people are sensible and really getting more out of life than lots of other folks.

Our advice to the young honey-moon couples is, not to rush off to the city with all its wearisomeness and much expense, but to live away to such a quiet countryside as this, and make friends with some of the best folks on earth, folks with whom one should never regret acquaintance.

B. I. BLANKENSHIP.

MRS. MARY S. ANDERSON

In loving memory of Mrs. Mary S. Anderson, who died April 6th 1911. We have lost a darling grandma, She has bid us all adieu; She has gone to live in heaven, And to us is lost to view. One more soul is safely anchored, In the harbor of the blest; One more home left sad and lonely, One more body laid to rest. 'Till the final trumpet is sounded, And the graves give up their dead; There a golden crown is waiting, For each faithful servant dead. There was an angel bent in heaven, That was not quite complete; So God took our darling grandma, To fill the vacant seat. We loved grandma, yes we loved her, But the Savior lover her more; So the Angels sweetly called her, To that bright and shining shore. Oh, that cruel death must sever, From our midst a friend so true, Blessed Savior in our anguish, Let us turn and trust in you. With thou send a guardian angel, From the white throne above; Down to heal broken-hearted children, Down to tell them of their love. May that Angel point us upward, Through a sea of Golden lights; Where we'll see dear grandma, Safely at the Father's right. We all know that she has left us, Left us, yes, for ever more, How we bear the pain and sorrow, God send, does only leave. Heaven now has our treasure, Earth the lonely casket keeps; But the sunbeam always lingers, Where our darling grandma, sleeps. Earth has lost its look of brightness, Heaven seems to us more light; Sincere the spirit of that dear one, Took its happy homeward flight. Now she is with the angel host, With sinless heart and stainless hand, Waiting to meet the friends to come, To that bright and happy land. Weep not that her toils are o'er, Weep not that her race is run; God grant that we may rest calmly, When our work like hers is done. Peaceful be thy silent slumber, Peaceful in thy grave so low; There no more will join our number, There no more our sorrows know. Yet again we hope to meet thee, When the day of life has fled, And in Heaven with joy to greet thee, Where no farewell tears are shed. Call not back the dear departed, Anchored safe when storms are o'er, On the border land we left her; Soon to meet and part no more. When we leave this world of changes, When we leave this world of care, We shall see our missing loved one, In our Father's mansion fair. Grandma is gone but not forgotten, Never will her memory fade, Sweetest thoughts will ever linger, Around the grave where she is laid.

A Loving Granddaughter,
EDER BARTELS.

Since five of his colts are an average age of 2 1/2 years sold at an average price of $611. He has never been defeated in a producing ring when shown with 4 to 18 of his get.

I have been raising chickens for nearly fifty years and Bourbon Poultry Cure is the most satisfactory remedy for gapes and cholera that I have ever used.

MRS. W. W. RALSTON, Hopkinsville, Ky.
Every year I had been losing from 75 to a hundred chickens with gapes. I got a bottle of Bourbon Poultry Cure and now I have 200 chickens and not a "gapey" one among them.

MRS. JENNIE B. STEVENS, Lynchburg, Va.
I have tried a great many poultry remedies, but for gapes Bourbon Poultry Cure is the best of all. My last hatch was 36 little chicks and out of that number I raised 35.

BESSIE V. SHEARER, Columbia, Ky.
Bourbon Poultry Cure is working like magic in this county. My friends who are using it say they never saw anything like it. I never have a sick fowl since using it.

MRS. J. D. COX, Lawrenceburg, Ky.
I am an old poultry raiser and Bourbon Poultry Cure is the only remedy I have ever found that will cure gapes. It has cured every chicken I have given it to.

My wife used Bourbon Poultry Cure on her sick chickens and it proved thoroughly effective and worked a cure in every instance.

COL. E. H. GAITHER, Harrodsburg, Ky.
Bourbon Poultry Cure is the best remedy for gapes I ever used. I never expect to be without it as long as I can get it.

MRS. A. J. MILTON, Craig's Creek, Va.
I have not lost a chicken by sickness since I began using Bourbon Poultry Cure. I used it last year and did not have a sick fowl on the place.

MISS MARY J. COOMES, Hardinsburg, Ky.
Last year my chickens were sick and I gave them Bourbon Poultry Cure and did not lose a chicken after giving them this medicine.

MRS. W. R. MOORMAN, Glendale, Ky.
Find enclosed check for which send me five gallons of Bourbon Poultry Cure. My chickens had gapes so bad last year that I could not raise any until I got this medicine.

MRS. W. R. GUNTER, Concord, Va.
Last year we lost one entire brood with white diarrhoea this year we have used Bourbon Poultry Cure in their drinking water and have not lost any.

DEMOCRATIC TICKET.

For Circuit Judge,
HON. CHARLES A. HARDIN,
of Mercer County

To Ed Shinnick:—We'll take that bet and you lose.

A GOOD MAN TO TIE TO

The Harrodsburg Republican says: Great credit is due our fellow citizen, Hon. Chas. A. Hardin, for his coolness and courage at Danville last Wednesday night. While attending the picture show at the opera house the film caught fire and for a short time it looked as though a holocaust was imminent. The audience became panic-stricken, and many would have been badly injured in the crush had it not been for Mr. Hardin who stood up in a chair and made an appeal to the crowd to be calm as the danger was over. Mr. Lewis Wollstein, of Paris, and Richmond Wollstein, of this place were in attendance and said it came near being a serious affair.

A MAN.

A man that's clean inside and outside, who neither looks up to the rich nor down on the poor, who can live without bragging; considerate to women children and old people; who is too brave to lie, too generous to cheat, and too sensible to loaf; who takes his share of the world's goods and lets other people have theirs—this is the ideal conception of a true gentleman.—Bagology.

CALVIN LEE EELUM.

In memory of Calvin Lee Eelum of Garrard County. He was 21 years old the 10th February and died April the 3rd 1911. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Levi Eelum and the grand son of Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Spratt, near Moreland, Ky., Lincoln County.

Gone but not forgotten
Silently it brings before us that dear face.

We can see no more.
Oh, smile upon us from above,
Ask God to lead us through,
The walks of life that we some day may find our way to you.

Every life must have some sorrow,
Over pathway shadows fall,
But beyond this fall of darkness,
God is gracious to us all.

Yet again we hope to meet them,
When the day of life is fled,
And in heaven with glory to meet them,

Where no farewell tears are shed.
Oh, it was hard to part with Calvin Lee,

Good bye bright smiles and loving ways,
And tender heart.

How oft through long, sad hours we think,
Of one we loved and cherished,

We think of one who has gone to rest,
Peaceful by thy silent slumber,
Peaceful in thy grave so low,

Thou no more will join our number,
Yet again we hope to meet thee.
When the day of life is fled,
And in heaven with joy to greet thee.

Where no farewell tears are shed,
But thy memory will be cherished,
Till we see thy heavenly face dearest Calvin

Some sweet day bye and bye,
From his loving aunt, A. L. E.,
Moreland, Ky.

COMPOUND CALLOUSES

Tells Splendid Cure for Them and All Foot Troubles.

A compound callous is the secondary stage, when it grows inward and presses on the nerves, causing intense pain. Callouses never cure themselves but always get worse, sometimes irritating the whole nervous system. The following is a most effective and speedy cure: "Dissolve two tablespoonsful of Calocide in a basin of hot water. Soak the feet in this for full fifteen minutes, gently massaging the sore parts. (Less time will not give the desired results.) The soreness will disappear immediately and the callous can be easily peeled off. Repeat this for several nights. A little olive oil rubbed into skin is very beneficial."

This Calocide is a very remarkable preparation for all foot ailments. Bunions, corns and ingrowing nails get instant relief and are soon cured. Bad smelling and sore feet need but a few treatments. Calocide is no longer confined to doctors' use. Any druggist has it in stock or will quickly get it from his wholesale house. A twenty-five cent package is usually enough to put the worst feet in fine condition. It will prove a blessing to persons who have been vainly trying ineffectual tablets and foot powders.

Addams, Addams, So Say We All, Gentlemen

If there a democrat but believes that if Senator McCreary gets the gubernatorial nomination, the chances of his party's success will be in doubt? Is it not the part of wisdom, therefore, for him to turn to some one who can bring the people to victory? William Addams, of Harrison county, is such a candidate. Place your banner in his hands and he will give you the hope and enthusiasm that must land us all winners. A few weeks since we were left floundering feeling that there were none to make an active fight to oppose Senator McCreary for the nomination, but since the manly stand and clean-cut statements of Mr. Addams, our doubts are at last thrown aside and hope has taken the place of our doubts in our party success.

There be times when our darkest periods are just before the dawn, and democracy in Kentucky appears to have passed through them. From no won every one should feel, with such a man as Addams to lead, that success must surely come.

Mr. Addams has a number of relatives and friends in "Old Shelby," and, though this county is in Mr. McCreary's district yet it can be turned to the Harrison county man who can land the party triumphantly in November.

Let us stop our bickerings, Addams is a man we can unite upon, and fight us all, therefore, get together and be together and be for Addams.

Let the party slogan be "party success," and Mr. Addams will be selected. He is the man of the hour, the man you want, the man you need, the man you must have.

Addams! Addams! So say we all! Addams!

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a running sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. It is caused out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surface. We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness caused by Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circular, free. J. J. CARMEN & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by Druggists. Chamberlain Medicine Co.

PUTS ON UNIQUE EXHIBIT AT DES MOINES EXPOSITION.

A Des Moines daily paper has an extended write-up of the $200,000 exhibit of the Chamberlain Medicine Company, whose goods are largely sold in Lincoln county. The paper says in part:

Remedies made by the local concern penetrate the jungles of Africa even the natives of India contribute their recipe for the Chamberlain medicines. This foreign money comes to Des Moines in the shape of foreign bills of exchange. These are exhibited to the amount of $2,000 in the booth of the company which is located in the middle of the east side of the Coliseum.

There are bills of exchange shown in the booth from the following countries: Cape Colony, Dutch Guiana, Straits Settlement, Philippines, New Zealand, Ceylon, India, Australia, Panama, China, East Africa, and Rhodesia. These are displayed attractively and labeled so that the visitor at the big home products show can understand readily the extent of the local industry.

One-half million dollars worth of business is done outside the United States each year by the Chamberlain Medicine company. This is entirely exclusive of the domestic output, which forms a lengthy story in itself.

IN THE WAKE OF THE MEASLES

The little son of Mrs. O. B. Farmer, Little Rock, Ark., had the measles. The result was a severe cough and it grew worse, and he could not sleep. She says: "One bottle of Foley's Honey and Tar Compound completely cured him and he has never been bothered since." Croup, whooping cough, measles cough all yield to Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The genuine is in the yellow package always. Refuse substitutes. Shugars and Tannin.

Garrard Chief. 1835

Bay stallion 15-3 hands, foaled summer 1902, said by good judges to be one of the finest stallions living. He is a perfect image of his great sire Chester Dare 10. Mr. J. C. Graves who raised and showed Chester Dare 10 says it is almost impossible for two horses to be more like than Garrard Chief 1835 and Chester Dare 10. Col. W. A. Barriger of Shelbyville, Ky., has judged this horse at the Texas State Fair several times says he is as fine a horse as he ever saw. Garrard Chief won the championship of the South West at Dallas in 1908, 1909, 1910 and during that time his colts won more than any other herd shown there in saddle classes. At Fort Worth Horse Show in March 1910 Garrard Chief won first in breeding class for saddle stallions and age over 15 good ones, he also won at same place first for five-gaited saddle stallion mare or gelding. He will make the season of 1911 four miles from Stanford on Hustonville pike at $25 to insure living colt. Mares grazed $2.50 per month. Care taken to prevent accidents but not responsible should any occur.

Hanna's Green Seal "The Made-to-Wear Paint"

If you expect to do any painting, you are interested—you should be—in the quality of the paint to be used.

In any given job of painting, labor represents practically two-thirds, material one-third the cost.

It stands to reason that with so much expense in labor, the enduring quality of the paint is all important.

Why have the painting done unless the protection and durability of the job is sought?

How is one to determine the true value and obtain paint that may be depended upon for durability?

HANNA'S GREEN SEAL PAINT IS NOT A SECRET. This paint has the printed formula on every package.

The makers have confidence and take pride in the quality and tell the public the composition of the paint.

IS THIS OF ANY VALUE TO YOU? IT OUGHT TO BE.

Don Varrick

This magnificent bred young stallion will make the season of 1911 at my stable near Stanford, Ky., on the Shelby City pike at $15 to insure a living colt. Don Varrick is 16-2 hands a beautiful chestnut, short back heavy bone in fact the highest type of the trotter and perfect disposition. He is by the great Onward Silver 2:05 1-4, that won the $5,000 Transylvania in a seven heat race in 1902 and the same year won the $10,000 Bonner Memorial and the M. and M. all in broken heats and sold for $21,000 and later for $25,000. Don Varrick is bred exactly like Spanish Queen that won the $5,000 Transylvania in 1908 making a record of 2:07 and was classed as one of the four, being one of the greatest money winners on the grand circuit in 1908.

Onward Silver is by Onward, one of the greatest and best sons of George Wilkes Onward's dam was the dam of Director, the sire of that great family of trotters and pacers. Don Varrick's 1st dam was by Wilkes Boy, by George Wilkes a full sister to The Way 2:15 1-4 and half sister to Madeline Patchen the dam of Rubber 2:10, Winchester 2:19 3-4, Billy Wilton 2:20, and Miss R. 2:30 2nd dam Mary by Boggs' Grey Eagle the dam of The Way and Madeline Patchen.

Don Varrick's dam produced Dr. Conner, that placed a public half mile on the Lexington track at 16 months in 1:08 3-4 and sold to N. W. Hubinger of New Haven for $1,000 she also produced Maggie Igo, that trotted a mile on the same track at 16 months old in 1:11 and sold for $500. Don Varrick is fast game and always on the trot, very rarely ever leaves his feet. In 6 weeks handling that full he trotted a quarter on half mile track in 34 1-2. See half in 1:10 and the mile in 2:27 1-2 on the outside of track. Please note, the rich inheritance of speed on both sides, not a missing link for generations. Breed to this fellow and you can't miss the four things every breeder looks for size, disposition, speed and looks. See him before looking your mares. Season money due when mares are parted with or bred to another horse. Mares kept at 10 cents per day and all car taken, will not be responsible for accidents or escapes. Don Varrick is a 2:10 trotter if he had the proper handling.

ALLEY GREGOR is one of the best trotting Stallions in Kentucky. He has a lot of style and finish and it is a great acting horse. Don't wear any boots, just 3 ounce shoes. He ought to make a great sire. His oldest colts are coming two's and show great speed and action. Any one wishing to see one of them can do so on the Lexington track where they are now in training. This is a good chance for the people of Lincoln County to breed into the best families of the trotting blood. Look this horse's breeding over and see how many they have in the list both sire and dam. This great trotting Stallion will make the season of 1911 at my stable in Lancaster Kentucky.

VALENTINE, WARDEN HANDLER AND ROSE LANE.

SYNOPSIS.

Warden Handler of Sing Sing prison and Detective George Doyle endeavor to prevail on Bill Avery, a released prisoner, to search out information against a former "pal," a young convict known as Jimmy Valentine. Avery refuses, and Doyle and Handler threaten to attack him. Valentine had a trick of opening safes and had been the thief of the prison.

Avery goes. Lieutenant Governor calls his beautiful niece, Rose Lane, and two women workers in a rescue mission visit the prison.

Warden Handler hears Rose Lane tell how she was rescued from a thief on a train, and he is amazed at a coincidence. Convict Jimmy Valentine, No. 1289, is brought into the warden's office to open a safe as an object lesson to the visitors, and Rose recognizes him as the man who saved her from the thief.

said, but there was a note of command and a threat of death in it, and the brute disregarded it, and he mastered him, a beast twice his size. He fought silently and killed him. And all my life that man owns me."

Mr. Lane was only half startled at the open declaration of his daughter of her admiration and gratitude for and sentimental interest in the ex-convict Jimmy Valentine. His trained intuition had already told him that she was more than casually concerned in the fate of this mystifying young man, whose record was apparently so bad and whose personality and ambitions were certainly impressive in their good qualities. Truth to tell, Mr. Lane was considerably disturbed at the situation, but he determined to accept it philosophically for the present and to watch carefully the future development.

"Rose," the father exclaimed as the girl concluded her statement. While he had realized her attraction toward the released prisoner, he had not guessed of the depth of her feeling for him.

"It's no good to be shocked, dad," answered the girl. "It's true. And then he went to prison on the death rattle of a beast like that, and I'm going to make it good to him if he's a man. And he is; every drop of my blood tells me so."

"And you don't even know his name?"

"Yes, I do."

"He gave you one, I know, but even that?"

"Well, what of it? Does a name mean anything to real men and women? No. The one comes—the one in all the world—and, well—that's all there is to love."

A pause ensued. The father was first to speak.

"Do you think he knows how you feel?" he asked sympathetically.

"No, nor he never will—unless you some day believe him—worthy of me."

"You promise that?" relievedly.

"I promise, dad."

"Will you wait until I see the governor, Rose? Let us go to see him and ask his opinion of the matter."

"Gladly, and he will believe in him, I know," said the girl enthusiastically. She heard a step behind her, and she turned.

There, with his hat in his hand, well groomed and wearing a well cut suit of brown clothes—light brown, the fashionable color—there stood Jimmy Valentine.

"Mr. Valentine!" exclaimed the girl. "Miss Lane, how do you do?" stepping quickly forward, extending his hand.

"This is my father." She presented Valentine to Mr. Lane, who welcomed him pleasantly.

Further conversation by the three was interrupted by the entrance of Mrs. Moore and Mrs. Webster, returning from the tea room. Mr. Lane and Rose departed to go to the governor's chamber, and the two members of the Gate of Hope society and Jimmy Valentine seated themselves.

"And now, Mr. Valentine, concerning your future," began Mrs. Webster, "what do you contemplate doing?"

"Get a position."

"We have already arranged that for you, Mr. Valentine," announced Mrs. Moore complacently.

"That is very thoughtful, ladies, but—"

"Mrs. Moore did not exactly convey

"No?"

"We have a choice of three positions for you, Mr. Valentine," went on Mrs. Webster. "One is in a grain elevator."

"Yes," smiled Valentine. "I can imagine that would be a safe place for one under suspicion of robbing a bank."

The ladies failed to detect the veiled note of sarcasm.

"The second," informed Mrs. Moore, "is as a bookkeeper or checker in a scrap iron yard."

"Still under suspicion, I see," commented Valentine dryly.

"And the third as the first male officer in the Gate of Hope society," Mrs. Webster proudly proclaimed.

"Yes," agreed the other charity worker.

"Treasurer?" the ex-convict queried significantly.

"No; secretary!" both the ladies cried simultaneously.

"I hold that honored position now," resumed Mrs. Moore, "but were you

Hartford "bulls" had broken up that midnight surprise party in the vaults of the Fifth National bank.

Hardly believing his ears, hardly daring to turn, yet he did turn, and he saw, crouching half behind one of the red velvet portieres of one of the hotel parlor entrances, the figure of Red—the face and the brick red hair of Red Flanagan, his old time coworker.

CHAPTER VII.

JIMMY VALENTINE slowly recovered from the shock he experienced at beholding before him the man who had in the old days been his accomplice in many questionable adventures. No; he had concluded wrongly. No; he was not yet free from all the associations of the years past—those years which he was endeavoring to forget.

"Hello, Red," he finally addressed Flanagan. "Come out from behind the curtain. The coast is clear for you. How did you know I was here?"

Red came forth. "Oh, leave it to me, Jimmy, to keep track of an old pal." He held out his hand, which Valentine listlessly shook.

Red could not understand his former companion's indifferent manner.

"What's wrong?" he asked.

"Nothing."

"Aw, cut it out. Something's got you guessin', an' so don't try to kid me."

The released convict looked meditatively at Red. Then he spoke.

"Red, did you ever do a bit?"

"Sure—Joliet."

"And you have been in one of those rotten holes and still think it's a good game?"

"You've weakened—eh?" sneered Red.

"I've turned square."

"You're crazy."

"No; it's only the man who thinks he can beat the law who's crazy," said Valentine.

"You'd a won out if it hadn't been for that Cotton, who blew on you because you beat him out of a dame."

Valentine turned and clutched him by the arm.

"You rat, don't you ever speak of her again or I'll murder you." He threw Red roughly away from him.

"Now, get out of here and forget you know me."

"Good God, Jimmy!" exclaimed the other, "I wouldn't say anything to hurt your feelings. Why, I'd do anything for you; I'd done your bit if I could have. Why, I'd go to h—l for you."

"Will you turn square with me? That's all I want of you now. Let's you and I start now and from this minute on go square, if we starve in the streets. Will you do that, Red?" Valentine spoke in intense earnestness.

Red hesitated. "One job to get a stake and I'll go you," he said eagerly.

Valentine appreciated the characteristic unwillingness of Red to leave his lifelong vocation—that of rifling strong boxes and safes deemed by their manufacturers to be "fire and burglar proof." True, the flames were sometimes foiled by the thicknesses of metal and asbestos, but rarely had Red Flanagan been foiled by mere inanimate metal or time locks—rarely, indeed, when accompanied by No. 1289, the man who, as Warden Handler described him, opened safes solely by the sense of touch. Valentine knew the hold that the unlawful life he, too, had followed invariably secured on its votaries, and he was not surprised when Red hesitated to leave it for the dubious rewards of "going straight."

"No," answered Valentine; "nothing for me but work from now on—work, honest work, hard manual labor if necessary. I've quit the old game for keeps, Red."

Red, plainly nonplused at this revolutionary change of heart in his former "pal," stood speechless for a moment. Jimmy Valentine, the best man in the country in his line, had "turned square." Merciful saints! Was the world coming to an end? At last he recovered his ability to talk.

He had an inspiration that he thought might win Valentine over, might make him come to his senses.

"What about the coppers?" suggested Red. "Are you dippy enough to think they'd let you turn square?"

"Yes. Why not?" retorted Valentine like a flash. "What have they got to do with honest men?"

Again did Red find cause to actually doubt the sanity of his ex-confederate, for here he was overlooking entirely in his childish reasoning the remorseless, dismal certainty that the detectives would force him to "peach" on his old pals or any one else in the underworld of whom he could obtain information desired by the police. In short, Valentine had overlooked the "stool pigeon game," the despair of every crook who had ever tried to "go straight."

"Aw, don't kid yourself," warned Red. "The copper'll let you be square if you're a stool pigeon, if you tip off old pals. No other way."

"Absurd! How, for instance, could they do me?"

"Absurd, eh? What about Kid Steele? He turned square, but he wouldn't deal, and job after job they threw him out of till he was hungry in the street. Then a copper offered to stake him to a feed if he'd 'turn up' an old pal. And he murdered the cop on the spot, and now he's doing life. Turn square, eh? That means be a stool or a bum in our game."

Red raised his hands protestingly and turned his face away from Valentine.

"Beat the coppers," insisted the other. "Get away where they can't find you. We can do that."

COW-EASE

RELIEVES CATTLE and HORSES FROM FLIES.

A liquid preparation carefully compounded from non-poisonous materials. It is of the right consistency for applying with a sprayer, and it will not gum up the hair or blister the skin.

Every dairyman and every owner of livestock should use COW EASE during the summer season. Its use is a humane act, and it also saves money for the stock owner, as a herd of milch cows that are sprayed regularly through the summer months will yield on the average from 10 to 20 per cent more milk than they would if COW EASE was not applied.

In the case of horses: a mettlesome horse will lose flesh in fly time, whereas if he is sprayed with COW EASE before driving, he will keep in good condition.
